DENOUNCED HER RIVAL IN PUBLIC. A JEALOUS WIFE'S OUTCRY EXCITES AN AUDI-

a married man, Miss St. Clair? If I thought you did, I would come down and thrash you." As the curtain went down after the first act, the woman in the gallery, accompanied by her sister, left her seat in the gallery and proceeded to the box office, where she purchased two seats in the orchestra, almost directly behind the ones occupied by Miss St. Clair and her escort. The woman was Mrs. Kromback, and the man who accompanied her rival was her husband, from whom she was separated. Between the acts Mrs. Kromback took delight in denouncing the couple. After the theatre Kromback and the young woman made an effort to get out of the place as quickly as possible. Mrs. Kromback followed them, pushing her way through the crowd. In the lobby of the theatre Mrs. Kromback caught up with her husband and seized him by the coat tails. Kromback turnel quickly around and struck his wife a blow in the face. Kromback her on the back. The victim screamed, and a large crowd gathered. At Driggs-ave, opposite the Novelty Theatre. Kromback turnel again upon his wife and struck her another blow in the face. He then placed his hand to his hip pocket, as though to draw a revolver, declaring that if his wife did not stop following him he would kill her.

When Miss St. Clair saw Kromback strike his wife the second blow, she hurried alone to her home. The crowd gave him a good thrashing, while Mrs. Kromback is and a large to see the second blow, she hurried alone to her home. THE MAYOR TO STOP BOXING MATCHES. Mayor Schieren reiterated yesterday his strong opposition to boxing exhibitions. He said: "I am sorry to see that an effort is being made to cirsorry to see that an effort is being made to circumvent my desires in this matter. I have not changed my opinion in reference to brutal boxing exhibitions—the so-called boxing matches—which invariably turn out to be prizefights. Whether they are conducted with or without an admission fee I shall instruct the Police Commissioner to stop them. I am only actuated by a desire to elevate rather than lower athletics. These exhibitions are demoralizing to young men and will not be permitted while I am Mayor."

An order was granted in the Supreme Court yes An order was granted in the supreme court yes-terday permitting the receivers for the firm of Liebmann Brothers' Company to accept a bid of 200,000, made by Siegel, Cooper & Co., of Chicago, for the stock, lease, wagons and other property of the firm which was forced to suspend recently. There were four bids. The highest hidder agreed to pay for the property on Saturday, it is said that the Liebmanns will organize a new drygoods house under the name of the Liebmann Company.

BAD CONDITION OF WALLABOUT MARKET. Mayor Schleren's Wallabout Market Commission has reported to him that the state of affairs in the market is one of confusion. The person in the market is one of confusion. The persons now on the market lands are there only by sufferance, and their legal rights have entirely expired. Many of the buildings are of wood, and both they and their contents are highly inflammable and are in a dangerous condition, and constant fear of a fire prevails. The original lessees have, in some instances, rerented their premises for eight or ten times what they pay the city. Some tenants occupy property and pay no rent, but notice has been served upon them to do so, and they expressed surprise that the city has not demanded it before. It is recommended that the frame buildings be removed as soon as possible, and that permanent structures be erected in their place.

The commission reported a bill providing for leases for a term of years, and to secure the erection of buildings such as are required within the fire limits of the city.

The announcement of the conversion to the Roman Catholic faith of Mrs. William Arnold, of No. 1,920 10 Fifth-ave, which has recently been made, has exwho is credited with being the cause of Mrs. Arnold's change of faith. Mrs. Arnold is the wislow of Delaware him tracted to the church of the Redeemer in Deal, 1822, by the ritualistic services and by the preaching of Mr. Adams. Mr. Adams had had strong leanings to the Roman Catholic Church long before he left the Episcopal Church. He was regarded as an able man, and his change of faith was a mounced as a great victory for Father Van Remsselaer. Mr. Adams, however, had no independent spirit, and, it was said, refused to undergo the penance imposed upon him, and insisted on expressing his contions whenever he wanted to. He was not, it fact, received into the Roman Catholic Church, although he left the Episcopal denomination. He is now in the list of Wight, engaged in literary work.

Mrs. Arnold has been prominent in the Church of the Redeemer. She was the principal supporter of the soup kitchen at No. 1,822 Third-ave., and often visited the poor and stek herself. She had promised to give a large sum of money to pay the church debt and had agreed to build a parish house to cost $20,000. The plans had all been drawn. A picture of the proposed house now hangs in one of the dressing-rooms at the church, it is expected that Mrs. Arnold will not now carry out her intentions for the benefit of the church.

Mrs. Arnold was baptized three weeks ago by Father Van Remselaer at her home, and is now a communicant at St. Francis Xavier's Church. 1822, by the ritualistic services and by the preaching

Mrs. Elvira N. Spinola, wislow of General Francis B. Spinola, of this city, is defendant in a suit for $20,000 damages for ejectment brought by Mrs. Kate
B. Stokes. The property in question is at Old Fields, Long Island. The papers in the case have been filed in the office of the County Clerk of Suffolk County. Mrs. Stokes is the wife of John Stokes, of this city. She is granddaughter and herress of the late James B. Taylor. The property is valued at £20,009. Shortly before Mr. Taylor's death, in 1871, General Spinola, it is alleged, transferred this farm to him as security for a debt.
After Mr. Taylor's death, according to Mrs. Stokes, General Spinola denied the claim against the farm and continued to hold possession of it. In 1875, by a special act of the Legislature, Henry W. Bentley was appointed receiver of Taylor's estate. In the mean time General Spinola allowed the tax to accrue on the farm and it was soid. He bought it in for a neominal sun, thus obtaining the tax lease, Mrs. Stokes now contends that the law deprived her of her rights by the appointment of the receiver, as she never consented to the appointment.
She demands the property back and the $2,000 damages as rental. Mrs. Spinola's answer has not yet been filed.

THE New York Herald

Next Sunday will be a special

Easter Number,

especially painted for it by leading European and American artists, beautifully reproduced

In Colors and Half Tones.

ARTISTICALLY

HERALD next Sunday will far surpass in excellence and attractiveness any previous effort in the history of newspaper publications. The many and handsome illustrations in the supplement will be printed in colors, and were painted for this issue by some of the foremost artists in the world, including Jules Stewart, F. A. Bridgeman and Henry Tenre.

LITERATURE

Of the highest order will be a distinctive feature of the issue. The special articles will be from the pens of the best writers, covering a field of subjects extending over the whole range of human interest. It will contain instructive descriptions, interesting fiction, breezy gossip, illustrated poems, historical reminiscences, valuable hints to women, and all the news of the whole world, both social, political, theatrical and re-
